

Shooting Ranges in Washington State

A county-by-county listing of places to shoot.

Always Be Thinking “Safety First!”

- Shoot only in legal and safe areas.
- Be familiar with the equipment you are using.
- Know your target backstop and beyond it.
- Avoid horseplay and alcohol at all times.

FISH and WILDLIFE

January 2002

Hunter Education Program

The mission of the Department of Fish and Wildlife (WDFW) is to provide sound stewardship of Washington's fish and wildlife resources. A significant amount of annual funding to support our stewardship activities is derived from a unique federal excise tax placed on ammunition, archery products, and firearms. WDFW's range development program recognizes the important financial contributions hunters and recreational shooters make via these taxes and now devotes a portion of the money to promote safe, accessible shooting opportunities statewide.

This program receives Federal financial assistance from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, and Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972. The U.S. Department of the Interior and its bureaus prohibit discrimination on the bases of race, color, national origin, age, disability and sex (in educational programs). If you believe that you have been discriminated against in any program, activity or facility, please write to:

U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service • Office of External Programs • 4040 N. Fairfax Drive,

Why This Booklet Is Needed

The Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife (WDFW) has a long-standing commitment to public safety. Since 1933 the agency has tracked hunting-related archery and firearms incidents. Since 1955 the agency has worked with thousands of certified instructors throughout the state to provide hunter education safety training geared specifically for hunters.

Although hunting and shooting today are exceptionally safe sports, the painful lessons learned over the years are quite simple:

- Almost all equipment-related injuries and incidents are preventable.
- Additional experience with equipment promotes both familiarity and safety.
- Safe, accessible year-round shooting ranges are the best places to practice with equipment.
- Many of Washington's residents are unaware of the existing shooting range opportunities throughout the state.

Regrettably, we publish this edition of Shooting Ranges In Washington State with the knowledge that some information is already out-of-date or inaccurate. Please notify us via telephone, e-mail, letter or fax if you identify any incorrect information, or have additional information, about shooting ranges here in Washington.

A total of 166 shooting facilities are listed in this booklet. A total of 27 ranges did not respond to our survey or could not be contacted. The list of ranges identified herein is based heavily on a comprehensive, original 1980 shooting range survey conducted by the (then) Department of Game. All ranges identified in the original 1980 survey were again contacted via mail for our 2001 survey, more than 15% of the 2001 surveys were never returned to the Department of Fish and Wildlife. Range names in this publication which are underlined (e.g., Tacoma Sportsmen's Club) indicate that the club, range or club member or fish and wildlife officer provided a written or telephone response to the WDFW shooting range survey. Range names which are not underlined and are followed by the words "no survey" (e.g., Tieton Gun Club—No Survey) indicate that we were unable to obtain any information for that range. Simply put, we do not know whether those unsurveyed shooting facilities are closed, whether they have changed locations or ownership, or whether they may have changed names and are now operating under a new charter.

Corrections and updates brought to our attention will be changed for the January 2003 edition of Shooting Ranges In Washington State.

Public, Private And Commercial Ranges

Every non-military, non-law enforcement-only shooting range facility—whether public, private or commercial—which we could identify in the Evergreen State has been included in this survey. Individuals may choose for themselves which ranges they prefer to patronize. Please note that almost all ranges charge an hourly or day-use rate, regardless whether they are commercial, public or private. Naturally, the charges will vary according to available facilities.

Many of the ranges listed in this booklet are identified as “Not open to the public; members and guests only.” While many of these “private” ranges provide public access for individuals who register for competitive shoots, others may not. Almost all shooting ranges welcome new members and encourage prospective members to visit their clubs and become familiar with their services. Check what’s available in your area, visit the ranges which offer the services you are most interested in, and then decide for yourself which ranges you prefer to patronize.

Abbreviations Used

Abbreviations used in describing range facilities are explained below:

A—Archery
CH—Clubhouse
HP—Highpower
I—Indoor
IA—Indoor Archery
IH—Indoor Handgun
IR—Indoor Rifle
ML—Muzzleloader
OU—Outdoor, Unsupervised
P—Pistol
S—Skeet
SB—Small-Bore
SC—Sporting Clays
SL—Silhouette
T—Trap

Only ranges which are generally open to the public (e.g., other than for competitive shoots) identify the shooting opportunities available by range. Facilities for private ranges are not included in this booklet since the public does not enjoy general access on a regular basis.
